Welcome to SWS's 2015 Winter Meeting! As our theme suggests, the program strives to weave together cutting-edge feminist scholarship and policy-oriented activism, theoretical inquiries that push the boundaries for understanding gender and more applied work that speaks directly to current policy debates. We believe that every flavor of feminist scholarship and activism is indispensable and, in the end, each complements the others in a shared effort to promote a more just and equal world. With Washington, DC as the setting, we hope the next several days will highlight the ways that SWS makes crucial contributions to feminist scholarship, academic leadership, and social justice by melding sociological insight with real-world activism.

The program largely reflects the enthusiasm, creativity, and wide-ranging contributions of the SWS community. We are truly awed by the wealth of cutting edge presentations, panels, roundtables, workshops, and committee initiatives that comprise the rich lineup of formal activities. Equally important, we look forward to welcoming new members, connecting with old and new friends, exchanging ideas on the full range of feminist issues, working together to build on the impressive work of recent years, and enjoying lots of good food, drink, and socializing.

We are enormously grateful to the many people who have contributed – above and beyond the call of duty – to bring this meeting together. In addition to countless others, we thank:

• Eman Abdelhadi, our superb assistant and co-organizer, who put in so much time, effort, and thoughtfulness in putting the program together.

• Joey Sprague, SWS Executive Officer, whose dedication and masterful organizational skills make SWS the thriving organization it is today.

• Jazmyne Washington, SWS Administrative Officer, who is caring for her new arrival at home but is very much here in spirit, in our thoughts, and in her many contributions to the program and organization

• Mary Bernstein, for her sage advice and for facilitating a smooth presidential transition.

• Philip Cohen, Liana Sayer, and Marisa Allison, the hard-working local arrangements committee, who generously tackled a daunting array of tasks with consistent good cheer.

• Tiffany Taylor and Christin Munsch, for expertly overseeing the Welcoming Reception on behalf of the Membership Committee.

• Sancha Medwinter and Allison Reilly McGrath, for enthusiastically developing and coordinating the wide range of events for graduate students.

• Ophra Lesser-Whalen and Katelin Albert, for serving the vital role of Silent Auction co-chairs, and Georgiann Davis, for being this year's dynamic auctioneer.

• Anna Muaco, for her work on the Critique Me mentoring session.
• Lucie Costanza, Emily Jones, and Devon Goss, for providing much-needed support to help the meeting run smoothly.

• All the invited speakers, for offering their insights, inspiration, energy, and valuable time.

Finally, we would like to thank the whole SWS community for honoring us with the opportunity to serve as a team. Working together to plan the program has given us a unique opportunity to enact the feminist ideal of collaboration. We are inspired by the work that SWS is doing on so many fronts, and we hope you find the meetings nourishing — intellectually, politically, and collegially.

Onward and upward!
Kathleen and Jerry

Gendering Globalization on the Ground
The Limits of Feminized Work for Mexican Women’s Empowerment

Gay Young

Series: Routledge Research in Gender and Society

How has globalization worked for women working on the frontlines of neoliberalism on the Mexico-US border? This critical comparison of socially similar women, working either in export production industries or in small-scale commerce and low-level services in Ciudad Juárez, reveals how export factory work constrains women’s empowerment at home – as well as the wages they earn and the well-being of their households. It challenges neoliberal notions of "empowering" women to work for market growth, and analyzes women’s empowerment as gender democracy to counter neoliberal globalization touching down in the lives of ordinary working women.

Dealing in Desire
Asian Ascendancy, Western Decline, and the Hidden Currencies of Global Sex Work
KIMBERLY KAY HOANG

“[This extraordinary work is pathbreaking, substantively, theoretically, and methodologically, will remain the standard by which sociological fieldwork in other societies will be judged for years to come.”
Orlando Patterson, Harvard University

“A welcome contribution to gender studies and the economy of intimacy, the book will interest a wide audience.”
Viviana A. Zelizer, Princeton University

“The book stands out as a signal contribution to the new sociology of transnationalism.”
Michele Lamont, Harvard University

“A stunning book—an exemplar of what global ethnography should be.”
Raka Ray, University of California, Berkeley

“Easily the most deeply researched and rigorously argued book ever written about the Vietnamese sex industry.”
Peter Zarrow, University of California, Berkeley

Over the course of five years, author Kimberly Kay Hoang worked at four exclusive Saigon hostess bars catering to high-end clientele: wealthy local Vietnamese and Asian businessmen, Viet Kieu (ethnic Vietnamese living abroad), Western businessmen, and Western budget-tourists. Dealing in Desire takes an in-depth and often personal look at both the sex workers and their clients to show how Vietnamese high finance and benevolent giving are connected to the intimate spheres of the informal economy. For the domestic super-elite who use the levers of political power to channel foreign capital into real estate and manufacturing projects, conspicuous consumption is a means of projecting an image of Asian ascendancy to potential investors. For Viet Kieu and Westerners who bring remittances into the local economy, personal relationships with local sex workers reinforce their ideas of Asia’s rise and Western decline, while simultaneously bolstering their diminished masculinity. Dealing in Desire illuminates Ho Chi Minh City’s sex industry as not just a microcosm of the global economy, but a critical space where dreams and deals are traded.

Kimberly Kay Hoang is Assistant Professor of Sociology at Boston College.

About Norton
W. W. Norton & Company has been independent since its founding in 1923, when William Warder Norton and Mary D. Herter Norton first published lectures delivered at the People's Institute, the adult-education division of New York City's Cooper Union. The firm soon expanded its program beyond the institute, publishing books by celebrated academics from American and abroad. By midcentury, the two major pillars of Norton's publishing program—trade books and college texts—were firmly established. In the 1950s the Norton family transferred control of the company to its employees, and today—with a staff of four hundred and a comparable number of trade, college, and professional titles published each year—W. W. Norton & Company stands as the largest and oldest publishing house owned wholly by its employees.
